Ouster of President As Party Leader Becomes
"Personal" Drive

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 5—Democratic peace feelers were reported today to have bumped into an unbending Dixie stand that only President Truman's exit can halt the civil rights revolt.

Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath, who also is a Rhode Island senator, has been sounding out some of his southern colleagues on the chances for a compromise.

The party split over Truman's race equality proposals also is said to have been talked over informally with some senators by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, a former senator himself.

Some of those approached said they were told that only Truman's withdrawal as a potential candidate could bring peace.

McGrath seemingly had little to offer except a return to the 1944 party platform plank on civil rights. That declaration promised only in a general way to bring about greater equality among the races. It contained no specific reference to the anti-poll tax, anti-lynching, anti-job discrimination and anti-Jim Crow measure proposed by the President.

The southerners were reported to have said, in effect, that this would be fine, but not enough.

What they want, they made it plain, is for Truman to take himself out of the November election picture. As one southerner put it to a reporter: Truman has become a personal issue.

McGrath obviously could promise no more by Truman to get out. In fact, the Democratic chairman has told friends he is as certain as one can be about politics that Truman is determined to run.

The President is described by friend and foe alike as a stubborn man who won't give up in the face of a fight.

Meanwhile, Senator Hill (D-Ala.) who is a pro-Truman candidate for convention delegate, joined Senator Ellender (D-La.) yesterday in criticism.

College Students Study U.S. Policy Toward Russia

BY DWIGHT PITKIN

COLUMBUS, March 5—American college students held a mock congress today to work out a policy towards Russia.

The budding statesmen got viewpoints ranging from Communist to far right wing at a foreign policy hearing last night. The public hearing by a committee of 15 students marked the opening of Ohio State University's three-day conference on public affairs.

Delegates from 35 schools split up today into three parties—right of center, center, and left of center. Committees went to work on all angles of the question: What should be United States policy towards Russia?

Will Attempt Organization
Tomorrow a general assembly will attempt by a preliminary proceeding to agree on some kind of policy. Wesley Vernon of Ohio State, chairman of the committee on hearings, said parliamentary organization would be completed today.

"If you were in Russia, you would have one of Uncle Joe's boys writing the ticket for you," Lewis G. Hines of the American Federation of Labor told the collegians at the public hearing.

He said the Communists had made the unions in this country "their first objective." The AFL, he reported, "has been pretty well cleaned out of Communists."

Two Minority Parties Urge
No Military Alliance
With Russia

(By Associated Press)
HELSINKI, Finland, March 5—Two minority parties announced their opposition today to entering into a military alliance with Russia. Their stand means that parties representing a majority of the members of parliament now are aligned against such a tie.

The minority parties—the Conservatives and the Liberals—joined other parties and blocs, however, in approving the opening of negotiations with the Soviet union on a friendship and mutual assistance pact as suggested last week by prime minister Stalin.

Decision With President
The final decision on the answer to Russia now rests with President Juho Paasikivi, a statesman with long experience in dealing with the Russians. Parliament would be required to ratify any treaty after his conclusion.

The conservatives, with 29 seats in parliament, and the Liberals, with nine, will deliver their formal response to the President late today. The Social Democrats, with 48 seats, and the Swedish party, with 15, already have recommended to Paasikivi that he appoint a delegation to negotiate. Together, the four represent 101 of parliament's 200 seats.

The Popular Front, of Communists and Radical Socialists, has urged acceptance of negotiations toward a full military pact. They have 51 parliamentary seats.

The Agrarians, who hold the other 48 seats, are expected to make their stand public some time today.

There were some unconfirmed reports that the President already has drafted his reply to Stalin.

Threaten Shake-Up In Ohio Tax Structure; Vorndran, Judge Named On Committee

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, March 5—Officials of 59 Ohio counties expect to have a threatened shake-up of the state's tax structure.

They yesterday asked a 32-man committee to study possible effects of recent supreme court decisions classifying movable manufacturing equipment as personal property. Personal property is taxed at half of its valuation; real estate at its full value.

Removal of kilns, blast furnaces, open hearths, bessemer converters, and kindred structures from the real estate duplicate "can revolutionize the tax structure of Ohio and impoverish many schools and local governments," they contend.

To avert such "disastrous results," the 250 county, city and school officials authorized the committee to prepare such legislation or constitutional amendments necessary to offset the decisions.

Potteries Open Challenge

Lorain county officers, who said pottery owners already have challenged tax classifications of $14,000,000 worth of property, called the meeting. Thomas McGeechie, Lorain county commission chairman, presided.

The effect on Columbiana county, if the ruling stands, would be to cut the tax evaluation from $70 to $35 million, officials estimated.

Saul D. Danaceau, assistant Cuyahoga county prosecutor, told the group the supreme court apparently had reversed its position between 1941 and 1946. The court ruled that special use structures were improperly classified as real estate.

The structures, including 2,000,000 gallon storage tanks and 10-high bubble towers of petroleum plants, were reclassified as personal property. Kilns of pottery manufacturers also have been moved into the personal property classification.

Danaceau said he had great respect for the state high court, but added:

"What they have done in these cases is simply ridiculous." He explained that he did not believe buildings and manufacturing equipment became personal property, simply because it could be dismantled and moved.

John P. Curry, Cuyahoga county commissioner, was named to head the committee. Other members are: James Williams, Portsmouth city finance director; Ralph Purdy, Cuyahoga school superintendent; Wallace G. Nesbit, business manager of Cleveland Heights; C. P. Lauderbaugh, Franklin county; Thomas McGeechie, Lorain county; Fred Morr, Hamilton county; Harold Collier, Huron county; Harry Marshall, Jefferson county; W. J. Wright, Lorain county; Chester A. Myers, Montgomery county; Joe Yoder, Stark county; George Guckenberger, Hamilton county; W. C. Trimbull, Trumbull county; Irvin J. Vorndran, Columbiana county; Charles H. Austin, Lucas county; Paul C. Bunn, Youngstown; E. L. Bowsher, Toledo; Wade Miller, Middletown; George Roudsush, Columbus; W. O. Wick, Lorain county; Paul A. Daylight Time Move Spreads In Ohio

The move to adopt Daylight Saving time spread throughout Ohio today.

At least six cities appeared ready to set their clocks up one hour on April 25, following the lead of Cleveland and East Liverpool where "fast time" was approved at the last election. Daylight time is designed to give industrial workers more daylight hours for leisure after work.

Canton Rejects Plan

Canton has rejected the plan in favor of Eastern Standard time, while several cities have indicated no preference.

Painesville City Solicitor Seth Paulin has been instructed by city council to prepare Daylight Saving legislation for adoption at the next council session.

Mayor Charles P. Henderson of Youngstown has signed an ordinance which will establish Daylight Saving time at least from April 25 to May 4. On the latter date Youngstown citizens will vote on a charter amendment which, if passed, will make fast time part of the city's basic law.

City council of East Palestine will vote March 15 on an ordinance providing Daylight time.

Mansfield city council will make a similar decision March 22. Little opposition is expected, but public hearings have been scheduled before a final decision is made.

Salem Legislation On

Most Salem city councilmen have indicated they will give final approval to an ordinance adopting Daylight savings. The first steps to put the law into effect were taken by the council Tuesday when an ordinance to go on fast time was given a first reading.

In Akron, a council committee is considering a May referendum on advancing the clock.

Daylight saving time has passed the first reading in Warren city council.

Farm Groups

Chief opposition to Daylight Saving has come from farm groups, which claim such a change would work hardships on farmers. The Wayne county grange has adopted a resolution for presentation to the Worcester city council opposing daylight time.

Resolutions opposing fast time have been adopted by Farm Bureau groups in both Columbiana and Mahoning counties.

The Canton city council agreed that a change to Daylight Saving time would result in confusion and voted unanimously to keep the city on Eastern Standard time this summer.

Toledo has taken no steps to switch to daylight time.

DEMAND CLEAN-UP IN STRUTHERS AREA

YOUNGSTOWN, March 5—A panel of church leaders believe nearby Struthers is "an unsafe place in which to raise children."

The group demanded yesterday that Struthers police "clean up" the city.

Citing widespread gambling, the committee said:

"If you don't clean up, we as citizens will clean up the town ourselves."

Mayor Thomas Needham of Struthers told the committee outside gamblers had tried to move into the city. They have been driven out, he said.

Rev. Lawrence E. Rothrock, a Methodist minister, said out-of-town gamblers had been operating in the town. "Men are losing their entire pay checks in gambling," he said.

"We do not want the castoffs from Youngstown and Trumbull county," he continued. "These are a dangerous kind of people."

THIRTEEN IN MISSISSIPPI MISHAP SAVED

Vessel Overturns In Swollen River After Hitting Bridge

(By Associated Press)

GREENVILLE, Miss., March 5—Thirteen crewmen were dead or missing today after the 180-foot towboat Natchez rammed into a bridge, turned over and sank in the swollen Mississippi river.

Federal barge line officials at St. Louis said 13 of the crew of 26 were known survivors. Two bodies were recovered.

The towboat Soho-Latonia brought eleven survivors to Greenville. Another, Engineer Louis Keeling of Greenville, was picked up far downstream, and was being brought to Greenville in critical condition.

Capt. William A. Howell, master of the Soho-Latonia, witnessed the end of the Natchez as his pilot house.

Roller Over By Current
"The current caught her and rolled her over," he said. "She went down in about a minute. The men below—firemen, engineers and so on—had no chance. The men picked up were mostly deck crew."

The Soho-Latonia picked up nine survivors, of whom two died on board. Four other men, rescued by other boats, were transferred to the Soho-Latonia to be brought here.

Howell said he had taken aboard all those picked up by the other boats, the Casablanca and Irene Sholan.

Captain Missing
Among those missing are Capt. Jimmie Browninski, was seen going down with his boat, "barking orders to his men to abandon ship."

Browninski had relieved the regular pilot and was at the helm when the ship lurched and crashed against the bridge.

Walter Egan of St. Louis, pilot of the ship that was familiar to every riverman from the Gulf to St. Louis, swam ashore, although painfully injured.

A sudden treacherous current in the river caused the accident. It threw the boat out of control and slammed it to bits against the bridge pier.

Two Men Injured In Route 62 Crash

A head-on collision of two automobiles injured two Salem men at 8:30 p. m. Thursday on Route 62 in Damascus, the state highway patrol reported.

Injured were Emmor Snyder, 20, of 443 S. Lincoln ave., with a lacerated left hand, and Richard Baughman, 20, of N. Madison ave., bruises and cuts.

The cars were driven by Snyder's brother, Frank, 22, and Martin Schuer, 27, of Youngstown. The front end and windshield of the Snyder car were smashed. The front end of the Schuer car was also damaged.

Schuer was driving to the left of the center line when the accident occurred, the patrol said.

The injured were treated by a doctor at the S. A. E. fraternity house at Mount Union college, Alliance.

Wind Up of War Assets Agency Is Due June 30

WASHINGTON, March 5—President Truman asked congress today to wind up the War Assets administration June 30.

The disposal of remaining domestic surplus war property would be transferred to the Federal Works agency.

Of the original $40,000,000,000 worth of surplus property, about $3,400,000,000 will remain to be disposed of at home by June 30.

The $600,000,000 worth left to be sold abroad by that date would be transferred from the State department to the owning agencies for handling. These agencies primarily are the Army and Navy departments.

A New Cordon Sanitaire

The similarity between the proposed "consolidation of western Europe" and the maze of treaties created for the security of western Europe after World war is obvious. But the most striking thing about the new proposal is the territory it seeks to protect against the westward push of Russian influence—France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Great Britain. This is now the frontier. The west is closing its ranks, but the ranks are pitifully thin compared with the years after World war I.

The nations that remain were then deep in the second line of defense. The frontier—the cordon sanitaire which France tried to build to stop Russia—was comprised of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia. The last three were further organized in a separate bloc, the Little Entente, led by Czechoslovakia. Further treaties were made among and between all the sovereigns seeking security, and this maze of diplomatic paper-work was to become the challenge to a resurgent German empire, which set out to divide and conquer the combined nations—but for Russia's advantage, as things turned out.

The west still hopes to avert two potentially powerful territories from Russian domination—the western half of Germany and all of Italy. It hopes, also, to have the support of Norway and Sweden. But it has lost all the nations on the border of the Soviet union, except Finland—and Finland is being "invited" to enter the Soviet bloc.

State Trading

The secretary of agriculture's hope that resuming government grain-buying won't jack up prices again after last month's slump caused by suspension of purchases for export is wishful. Senators debating the Marshall plan know that all government purchases for export have an effect on prices. It's one of the toughest problems in the European recovery program.

A still tougher problem is how to make government the biggest purchaser of production for export without pitting private traders out of business. The latter point to the consequences of state trading in Europe and in this country under lend-lease and quote economists who say control and conduct of export trade, by government is the most important single matter affecting free-enterprise capitalism in the world today—the economic climax of nationalism.

Under the Marshall plan, the government would compete with domestic buyers for hundreds of items, then would export what it bought at the expense of the export-trade industry. The timing and pricing of government purchases would be involved deeply in both domestic and international politics. To point this out is not an indictment of the Marshall plan. But it would be foolish to forget that any plan which calls for state trading on a wholesale scale for at least five years could be carried out without tremendous effect on free-enterprise capitalism in the United States.

Anti-Semitism in Russia

For 25 years, Communist leaders have boasted that Russia was the only country with no racial discrimination, yet within a week two New York Times writers have pointed to tangible evidences of anti-Semitism there.

"The extent and intensity of anti-Semitism . . . is surprising in a country that boasts of its lack of racial prejudice," writes Drew Middleton. "Jews cannot now enter the principal military academies in Moscow. Their number is restricted in the law schools in the University of Kiev and in Moscow university." The number of Jews in the ministry of foreign affairs is being reduced and no young Jews are being chosen for diplomatic careers.

Describing the autonomous Jewish Soviet province of Birobidjan, C. L. Sulzberger says Russian Jews who emigrate there to escape anti-Semitism are disappointed. Instead of progressing, the province is falling into decay and the people live under almost primitive conditions in the rugged Siberian climate. Moscow has lost interest in Birobidjan.

Anti-Semitism in Russia was latent as long as Trotsky, who was a Jew, was among the ruling hierarchy. Since his banishment, it has been increasing. The men in the Kremlin are as nationalistic as any group in power today and, as always, the Jews are among nationalism's favorite victims.

Plugging Holes In The Silo

The world food problem isn't likely to be solved for years to come. This nation's population has increased 14,000,000 in the last decade; despite the war, Europe's is up 21,000,000, and with peace of a sort restored, the population graph is curving ever upward. Yet even at prewar production levels more than half of the world's inhabitants lacked enough to eat.

One way of increasing food production is to reduce loss, which in American alone amounts to an astronomical figure. Charles F. Brannan, assistant secretary of agriculture, says plant diseases reduce crop yields 17 percent, while insects and rodents destroy 10 percent in the fields and another 5 percent of stored food. Rats alone are responsible for a grain loss equal to the amount Europe will draw from us this year.

Intelligent cooperation among scientists, agriculture experts, the government and farmers should reduce these losses an amount equivalent to the production of millions of acres.

BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

Adverse planetary conditions make this day a rather disturbing and disheartening state of affairs, especially as it pertains to domestic, social, romantic or cultural affiliations, in which enmity, friction and inharmony seem to reign with crushing force.

Under such depressing of disturbance it might be difficult to infuse any sort of enthusiasm in business, financial or other serious efforts. Maintain composure or seek joyous diversion or relaxation of an uplifting sort.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which their main efforts should be directed toward composing differences, mending hurts, side stepping friction, insults and possible scandal or slander. This is the result of carelessness, or over-indulgences in pursuit of pleasure. While the affectional or domestic relations are largely involved, other partnerships, finances, credit and property are likewise adversely affected. Safeguard standing, prestige and health as well as possessions.

A child born on this day while artistically and socially gifted may not find felicity or progress in life, due to its own careless indulgences or errors.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

There's a theater note that "50 million Frenchmen may be revived" . . . probably just another angle of the Marshall plan.

Actually it would be 49,999 . . . Chevalier seems to have revived himself.

When Maurice heard that Jolson was working, he got his straw hat cleaned and booked passage for America . . . the new fountain of youth.

Any producer will tell you that screen, stage and radio are "constantly seeking new talents" . . . that's what keeps the old talent working.

Anyhow, if private industry revives 50 million Frenchmen the State department can pay more attention to 400 million Chinese.

The feeling is that Chiang Kai Shek's hand needs strengthening . . . he might try exercising it. Branding it in Palm oil for so many years may have weakened it.

Insurance statistics show that women live longer than men. We've always heard that point was a good prospect.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The New Era In Medicine

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

So far as medicine is concerned, we are living in a new era marked by the introduction of what are known as antibiotics. These substances are potent germ fighters. They attack directly many of the most dangerous of disease-causing organisms knocking them out with a speed which seems miraculous to those of us who knew the power of these germ-armies when unopposed.

Though research will undoubtedly give us new, and perhaps more effective, antibiotics in the future, the most important of those in use today are probably penicillin and streptomycin. Even these two have been sufficient to revolutionize the treatment of many different types of infections, both mild and serious.

Greater Champion

So far, penicillin is the greater champion. The list of germs which it attacks is long and includes some of the worst enemies of mankind. Thus, at present, it is the treatment of choice in infections due to staphylococcal, pneumococcal, and hemolytic streptococcal germs. It is also employed for gonorrhea, syphilis, and an infection of the heart valves known as bacterial endocarditis, which is caused by the streptococcal germ.

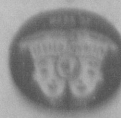

While its list of victories is shorter, streptomycin is particularly valuable because it routs an entirely different class of germs from those against which penicillin is effective. As of today, it is the only one of the antibiotics which has any effect on the germ causing tuberculosis and thus gives us our first direct weapon against this dread disease. Unfortunately, however, it seems to be effective in only about 25 per cent of the cases.

Kidney infections. Other infections, satisfactorily treated with streptomycin, are: tuberculosis; infections of the kidney and bladder; meningitis due to the bacillus influenza, and certain infections of the blood stream. Penicillin may be given either in the form of a solution or in the form of tablets. Mixed with oil and mouth, it seems that about three to five times as much of the penicillin must be used as when given by injection.

Streptomycin, in general, is given by injection into a muscle. Here again, the amount to be used depends upon the kind of infection being treated.

In those cases of tuberculosis which streptomycin helps, improvement is marked. The fever disappears, the cough becomes less and the appetite improves. As I said before, it now seems to aid only about one-fourth of all tuberculosis patients but, as time and research go forward, it is to be hoped that its usefulness can be increased.

Has Brought Cures

Streptomycin has even brought about cures of tuberculosis meningitis. This is inflammation of the covering membrane of the brain and spinal cord and has formerly been considered incurable.

Reactions to the streptomycin may occur if the preparation is used for longer than seven to ten days, but is a rule they are not serious. Dizziness is common with prolonged use of the drug. Dizziness is a worse aftermath of such treatment, but it may only develop in those patients who receive large amounts of the preparation for a long time.

Barborton Lady Lost 38 Lbs.
Without Dieting

Mrs. K. Fish, 379 Van St., Barborton, Ohio writes, "When I started using Renel I weighed 135 pounds. I now weigh 155 pounds and have lost that sluggish tired out feeling which I had for sometime. Since using Renel all of my friends praise the difference in my appearance and my sister is also using it since seeing what it has done for me." Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomfort of being overweight. Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasures of feeling younger and more alive. Try Renel and notice the admiring looks you will receive from your friends as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your drugstore and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Renel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablepoons a day. That's all there is to it. If you aren't satisfied with the results return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Renel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist on the genuine Renel.

Lipstick Innovation Aid To Blind Woman

LOS ANGELES — Two veteran vaudeville troupers have invented a device to aid blind women put their lipstick on straight.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sylvester were walking down the street one day when they noticed a blind woman led by a guide dog. The woman was fashionably dressed but her lipstick was smeared.

The Sylvesters designed a metal case in the shape of a pair of lips, bowed on top and straight on the bottom. A blind girl merely has to fit the container to the corners of her mouth and press to fashion a neat cupid's bow.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mother Objects To "Fast" Time

Editor, The News:

In regards to this annual nonsensical "follow the leader" idea of tampering with the time, I would like to add my opinion, as a mother of two school-age children and two at home.

Daylight saving time merely adds an extra hour to a tired mother's already too long day for in most cases mother is the first out of bed in the morning and the last to get settled for the night.

Two recent letters in The News, one from a farmer and the other from a farm wife show more good common sense than any "reason" or "excuse" I have ever read in favor of D.S.T. for after all, the farmer is the backbone of our country and as such, deserves more consideration that has been shown by opponents of this silly clock changing idea.

It seems to me a more sensible plan would be for business places to open an hour earlier in the morning and close earlier which would amount to the same thing, and give those who desire it an extra hour for recreation, without working a hardship on a large number of other folks.

And also, why not give the people a vote on the matter instead of a few city officials pulling this thing over on us for an entire summer every year?

MRS. G. H. BRADFORD.

Los Angeles Wolves Will Be Put In Place

LOS ANGELES—Open season on the Hollywood two-legged "wolf" has been declared.

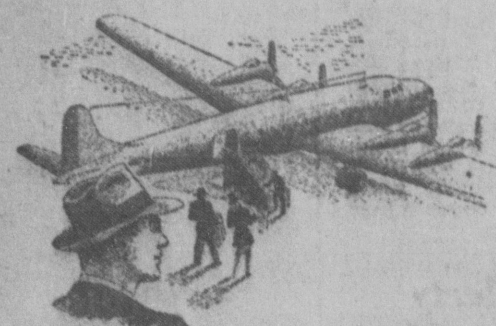

Twelve Los Angeles policemen have been assigned to the Police Academy here to learn judo, law enforcement, swimming, and public relations. These members of the "glamor" squad will also be the first women in the department to carry pistols. What's more, they'll know how to use them if they have to.

Sgt. Charles How, self-defense instructor at the academy, denies that tugging with the girls is as much fun as it might sound. "When they learn the technique, they practice on us instructors," he said. "And these lady cops play for keeps."

Classes Hold Joint Dinner

"The Art of Personality Development" was the subject of an entertaining talk by Rev. Harold Winn at a fellowship dinner meeting of the Elizabeth Fry and Men's Bible classes of the First Friends church Thursday evening in Greenford grange hall.

Rev. Winn, teacher of the Men's class, pointed out that friendship, interest in other people, being a good listener, trying to find the good in other people and appreciation, are characteristics which tend to make an individual likable.

J. B. Bostrom played the accompaniment for group singing, which was led by Homer Ellyson, chairman of the committee in charge. Other members were Orlan Wank, Herman C. Stratton, Henry Wolfman and Henry Ross. Lawrence L. McCluggage is president of the Men's class.

There were informal talks by several members of the Men's class. Mrs. Charles Riley and Mrs. Orlan Wank, are teacher and president, respectively of the Elizabeth Fry class.

The table, lighted by tall candles in crystal holders, was set for 57. St. Patrick's day appointments were favored.

Gives Book Review For Church Women

Mrs. George Meiser highlighted the program with a review of the book, "Great Is The Company," at the annual open meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Christian church Wednesday evening at the church.

Mrs. George Loder's division was in charge of the program, which included vocal duets by Mrs. George Adams and Mrs. Glenn Davis, who were accompanied by Mrs. Walter Johnston. She also played two piano solos.

Mrs. L. B. Harris, president, officiated, and Mrs. Ross Clay conducted the devotions.

Mrs. E. S. Scott presided at the refreshment table, which was lace covered and centered with an open light arrangement of ivy. Green and white tapers in crystal were used on either side. Shamrocks were given for favors. Mrs. R. D. Painter and her division served.

The executive committee will be in charge of a meeting April 9 at the church.

Catholic Women Plan For Fall Benefit

Magic in A Scarf

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — Designers who pull scarf tricks out of their sleeves this spring out-do the magicians by creating scarves which add drama to a dress.

A sprightly example is the scarf which doubles as a turban, a flaring stole and the Victorian-revived shawl.

To clinch the Victorian look of the large triangular shawl, center, which is ensembled with a yellow-and-black print crepe evening dress, designer, Jo Copeland fringes the shawl with jet. This trimming is also used to outline the neckline and armholes of the sleeveless dress with which the shawl is worn.

The stole, which helps dramatize spring prints, often sports the new lingerie look of ruffles or lace. From the patio-type of dress, right, of black and white polka-dotted crepe, floats a long matching stole edged with scallops of black lace.

The lace motif is repeated at the bare-shouldered top and at the hemline of the dress.

The scarf which doubles as a turban is designer Herbert Sondheim's gift to the girl who likes to try new tricks. Star of the ensemble, left, featuring a black jersey middie and a pleated skirt of pink and black polka-dotted crepe, is a matching print scarf with a cut-out circle through which a girl can thrust her face and turban her head.

Meeting Is Held By Pythian Sisters

One application for membership was received and one member reinstated at a meeting of Friendship temple, Pythian Sisters, Thursday evening in the hall.

Plans were completed for a benefit Saturday evening, March 13. Lunch was served at the social period, Mrs. Pearl Glawe of Cleveland was a guest.

Auxiliary of Legion To Hear Speaker

Forum Class Plans Supper Tuesday

The Presbyterian Forum class will have a covetish supper at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the church. An unusual program is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Zimmerman of E. Third st. are on a two-week trip to Florida.

Social Situations

SITUATION: Your child brings a friend home from school, and you do not know the child's name. WRONG WAY: Ask the child what his name is.

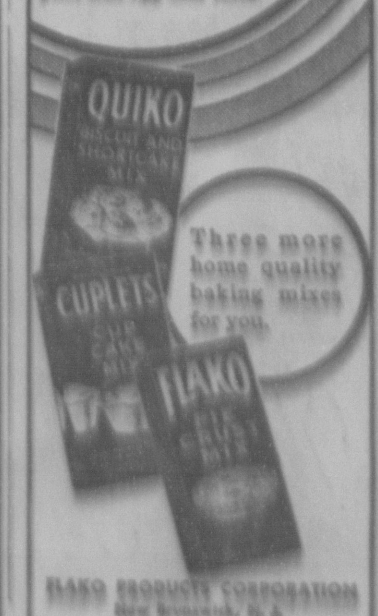

RIGHT WAY: Remind your child that you do not know his friend, so that he can have the experience of introducing him.

Flashes Of Life

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Traffic officers found Helen Jackley driving along Broadway in nothing but high gear.

As nude as Lady Godiva, the woman got first attention by going through a red light. The signal was paled, however, by the blushes of Patrolmen Benjamin Morse and Carroll E. Maynard, after she obeyed their order to stop.

Here's the story she told in municipal court:

"I wanted to go out. My husband didn't. I said I would anyway, so he undressed me and dared me to go out like that—so I did."

Said Judge McDonnell: "This court has heard everything now."

Then he sentenced her to 90 days in jail for drunken driving—unless she wanted to pay a $350 fine. She spent several hours in jail, then paid the fine.

TULSA, Okla. — Federal Judge Royce H. Savage agrees that termination to pay one's debts is worthy, but that law breaking just isn't the way to go about it.

A sharecropper haled into his court told the judge he started "moonshining" to pay off a $100 bank loan. The culprit said he "had it down to $4.75" before the revenue agents moved in.

The judge assessed him 60 days in jail, plus a year's probation.

WAYNESBURG, Pa.—James L. Johnston has driven his "honey-moon coupe" 300,000 miles without so much as denting a fender.

It was back in 1930 that Johnston bought a new automobile to take his honeymoon. Still in service, the auto is used by Johnston daily as he commutes to work. He has replaced the car's motor twice but the 18-year-old vehicle's body still has a brilliant polish.

"Just use your head and exercise ordinary care, caution and common sense."

Stassen To Speak At Rally In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, March 5—Harold E. Stassen, an avowed opponent of Sen. Robert A. Taft in the race for Ohio's Republican presidential delegates, has scheduled two talks in the state March 18. Stassen's Ohio campaign manager, Earl Hart, said the former Minnesota governor would speak at a joint businessmen's luncheon and at a Public Hall rally. It will be his first appearance in Ohio since announcing his entrance into the presidential primary in this state.

Dedicate Firestone Organ At Columbiana On Sunday

COLUMBIANA, March 5 — Presented to Grace Evangelical and Reformed church as a memorial to the late Harvey S. Firestone Sr. by members of his family, the new Klagen organ will be dedicated at the morning service in Grace church Sunday.

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., is expected to be present to make the formal presentation, and Fred Keller, vice president of the consistory, will accept it in behalf of the congregation.

"Music in God's service" will be the subject of the dedicatory sermon by the pastor, Rev. Waldo J. Bartels.

Miss Shirley Bartels, daughter of the minister, will sing a solo, "In My Garden," a composition by Mrs. Ida Bell Firestone, widow of the late Mr. Firestone.

Plans New Home
L. W. Bertelsen, Pittsburgh manufacturer, is preparing to build a $50,000 residence in the north part of town. He has bought of Roy V. Harrod a home site adjoining the residence of Leo Holloway in the wooded tract on the Canfield road just across the line in Mahoning county. A survey has been made and work will be started soon.

Den No. 4, a new den of Cub Pack 17, Boy Scouts, held its first meeting Wednesday evening at the home of its den mother, Mrs. Forrest Stark, Fairfield ave. At a meeting of the officers this week, plans were made for the next meeting of Pack 17, which will be at the Presbyterian church March 31.

Mrs. Edwin Johnson, president of Firestone Legion post auxiliary, and Mrs. Thomas Esenwein left today for Columbus to attend the mid-winter meeting Saturday of the state organization as delegates from the Columbiana auxiliary.

Legion Dinner March 12
Reservations by persons in Columbiana and vicinity for the Columbiana county American Legion birthday party in Salem, Friday, March 12, at 6:30 p. m., may be made with Mrs. R. G. Miller, phone 4296 or with Mrs. A. M. McLaughlin, Jr., phone 4170. Reservations must be made not later than next Monday, March 8. The dinner is for Legion members and wives and the ladies' auxiliary.

A joint meeting of the board of trustees and the session will be held at the Presbyterian church Monday evening.

Theater Planned
George Manos, chain theater owner, and his architect, John Vogel, both of Toronto, were before council Tuesday night with plans for the new theater at the northwest corner of the Public square, and received assurance of the co-operation of council.

Council passed a new ordinance fixing the salary of Police Chief R. G. Miller at $345 a month, an advance of $14 a month.

Mavor K. T. Gormley, Councilmen Russell Barrow and Kenneth Fernal and Street Commissioner Walter Thomas reported on a visit to Carrolton, comparable in size to Columbiana, to investigate the working of parking meters. From 151 meters installed at a cost of $9,000 the municipality averages $150 a week, the receipts being used to pay for the meters.

William Orr of E. Friend st. has been hired as custodian of the High school building in place of Craig Single, who resigned.

Socialists Cite Czech Party Folly

LONDON, March 4 — Britain's ruling Labor (Socialist) party maintained today that the Communist victory in Czechoslovakia would have been impossible without the aid of Socialists who play ball with the Communists.

The party's executive committee issued a statement last night declaring that last week's events in Prague constituted "a warning and lesson to Democratic Socialists."

It said the Communist minority in Czechoslovakia chose to "impose a dictatorship" rather than risk defeat in free elections and added:

"No clearer demonstration could be possible that Communists consider as enemies all those who do not surrender unconditionally to their slightest whim."

In the house of commons, Sir

David Robertson of the conservative opposition demanded that the Labor government cancel its trade agreement with Russia. He said "weapons of war" were being sent to the Soviet Union.

DENY THAT BENES IS ILL, ON WAY OUT

PRAGUE, March 5.—Communist Premier Klement Gottwald's office today said President Eduard Benes is being replaced because of illness.

"The President is very tired and is not known when he can come back to Prague," said Frantisek Benesek, chief of the premier's press section. "We do not know how long he may be ill. There has been no consideration given to any replacement or successor for him until, if any such step is taken, it will be according to the constitution."

Benes, a founder of the country, was elected to a seven-year term in 1938. The constitution provides that if the President is unable to do his work for six months, three-fourths of the cabinet may decide to name a deputy vice president. Benes then would be elected by three-fourths of the parliament.

Benesek said Benes would be unable to speak in Prague Monday at the celebration of the Battle of Stahov, in which Czech soldiers fought alongside the Red Army.

"The premier asked permission to represent him at the celebration," the press officer said. "That was all."

Polix Uhl, former official of the Catholic People's party, has been arrested and accused of spying for the unnamed foreign power.

Canton-Akron Airport Decision Is Awaited

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The Civil Aeronautics board promises an "early decision" on certification of the Akron-Canton memorial airport, Rep. Carson (R-Ohio) said today.

Carson told a reporter the board gave him this answer after the latest of a series of requests by the congressman to speed up action, which has been pending since hearings closed Jan. 12.

The Ohio field was completed two years ago but never has been used because it has not been approved by the CAB.

The memorial field is midway between Akron and Canton and is owned jointly by Summit and Stark counties.

MAJOR TRIGG, BOY SCOUT OFFICIAL, SALVATION ARMY SPEAKER ON SUNDAY

Major William Trigg, special national field scout commissioner, of New York City, will lead a Boy Scout service at the Salvation Army citadel at 7:45 P. M. on Sunday, March 7th.

A special invitation has been extended to all Boy Scouts and prospective Boy Scouts in this area to attend.

Major Trigg is a 33-year veteran Eagle Scout and is commissioned by the national office of the Boy Scouts as a special field commissioner.

A native of Cleveland, he left a position on the Cleveland Boy Scout council to enter the Salvation Army's Training college in New York City, from which he was commissioned an officer in 1923.

He served two years as boys' work director in the Army's Northeastern Ohio division with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio. At the present time he is the territorial youth leader, specializing in Scouting, Boys clubs and programs for boys, although his duties embrace all phases of the Army's activities for children and youth.

In 1942 Major Trigg was appointed to serve as the national liaison officer between the Boys Clubs of America and the Salvation Army.

Major Trigg

He attended the 1947 World Scout Jamboree in France as a member of the Central staff of the American delegation.

Stassen Thinks N. H. Chances Are Good

(By Associated Press)

CONCORD, N. H., March 5.—

Harold E. Stassen thinks his prospects are good in the New Hampshire presidential preference primary next Tuesday—but he won't predict how many of the eight delegates he hopes to win.

Winding up two days of barnstorming the Granite state just before midnight, the Republican presidential aspirant told a press conference his prospects depended somewhat on the size of the vote.

The 41-year-old former governor of Minnesota indicated he preferred a heavy vote. A good turnout—larger than usual—is generally expected.

Stassen faces a showdown with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in this primary—the first in the nation—as they are the only Republican candidates to enter full slates.

President Truman has clear sailing for endorsement by the Democrats.

teizing one of the President's civil rights proposals.

The two said in a minority report on a bill to set up a fair employment (anti-job-discrimination) commission that it would aid Communism.

They argued the measure offers an "invitation to sabotage" because it would keep the federal government from discriminating against a job seeker "because of his national origin or ancestry."

An approaching Republican primary produced fireworks within the party when Senator Hawkes of New Jersey announced his withdrawal as a candidate for renomination.

The 70-year-old first term contended in a statement that a group of "New Deal Republicans" have formed a coalition to try to "rule or ruin the state."

Among those he named are his senate colleague, H. Alexander Smith; Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, and Robert C. Hendrickson, who is seeking Hawkes' seat.

Hawkes recently voiced publicly his "hate" of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

His statement said he would have to spend all his time campaigning if he hoped to win and

Health Forces Hull To Quit Public Office

The Memoirs Of Cordell Hull

BY CORDELL HULL

(Copyright, 1948, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

INSTALLMENT 35

SOME TIME before Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated at Chicago on July 20, 1944, for a fourth term, he again proposed to me at the White House my nomination as vice president. He said he knew I would have the nomination if I would take it.

The President knew I would not take it, however, because the war was still on and I was thoroughly involved in foreign affairs. I felt that I had in 1940, when I repeatedly refused an identical suggestion, refused that I could serve better, in the circumstances, as secretary of state than as vice president. I expressed my appreciation to the President, but said I was deeply engaged in foreign policy and did not feel I could leave it.

The fourth term seemed more natural to the general public, including myself, than had the third term. The tradition had already been shattered, and in 1944 we were at war, which had not been the case in 1940. The President felt the situation was difficult, we were so deep, he was at the helm, and therefore he should yield to the widespread demands that he stand for election again.

I took no part in the campaign that followed.

The President sent me a memorandum dated Sept. 29, 1944, in which he said: "I hope much that in making your plans, you will arrange to go on the air about twice between now and election day. The country needs some of your clear thinking and needs to have it kept up to date."

He then said it was his thought that he would make one speech between then and election day on foreign policy and he would be "extremely grateful" if I would have prepared for him a draft of a speech.

When I received this memorandum I had already planned to call on the President at the White House the following Sunday and inform him of my forthcoming resignation. I made the call as planned and told the President, with a feeling of the keenest disappointment, that I had been over-exerting myself for some time and that I now found myself in such physical condition that I would have to resign. I said I was leaving my office within another day or two.

to go straight to bed, where I must remain for an indefinite period.

The President did not seem to be able to believe me. We had a rather casual conversation before I left his office. The question of preparing a speech for him and of my making two campaign speeches was not mentioned by us then or thereafter, although the Department later assisted the President in preparing his major foreign policy address of the campaign.

Goes To Hospital

Three days later, on Oct. 2, my 73rd birthday, I left the State Department a very ill man. I spent 18 days at my apartment trying vainly to recover, during which time I carried on my work to some degree, and was then taken to the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Maryland, where I remained for about seven months, at times in the State Department—half again longer than anyone else in our history—during one of the most crucial periods in the life of our nation, had utterly exhausted me.

Soon after I arrived at the hospital, the President sent the White House physician, Vice-Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, to reassure me about my condition and to convince me that I would recover sufficiently to resume my duties within a reasonable time. Then the President visited me and spent an hour and a half during which he urged upon me the wisdom of not resigning. He assured me I could take some leave and after a reasonable period return to my office at the State Department.

I did not hesitate but promptly declined to withhold my resignation. I said it was next to taking my life to be compelled to resign, with the tremendous plans to which I had been giving my chief attention not yet adopted. But, I added, I had almost utterly exhausted my strength in undertaking to carry forward these gigantic efforts, and I had swung down to the lowest rung on the physical ladder. I said I could not possibly retain my office with its terrific responsibilities and at the same time make a recovery.

The President then urged very insistently that I not resign until the end of his present term, Jan. 20, 1945. I replied that personally I would be extremely glad to take this course, but I pointed out that if I did so critics would begin almost in no time to emphasize the tremendous responsibilities resting on me and the State Department and, while expressing sympathy for me in my illness, they would soon begin to insist that the critical nature of conditions required a Secretary of State on close watch at the department, with the result that they would soon be criticizing the President.

Mr. Roosevelt then asked that I not resign at least until after the election. To this I agreed.

The President on Nov. 21 wrote me a splendid letter, which he began by saying that my letter "has hit me between wind and water." "It has been very sad," he went on, "for me even to contemplate the ending of our close relationship during all these twelve years. It is not merely that our personal relations have been so uniformly and invariably agreeable, or that our joint work has borne true success in so many fields, as it is the personal feeling of not being able to lean on you for aid and intimate interchange of thought."

"This is especially true because we have come so far along the road of friendly relations among nations that I have counted so much on your help in carrying this work through the final stage of complex and difficult conditions which still face us."

"Your health is honestly my first thought, and I am really confident that you will be on your feet again in a relatively short time, even though you are limited to special tasks and avoid the daily routine of department work. As of today, therefore, you must devote all your thought to getting back on your feet and on this all your friends will join in helping."

He then repeated his suggestion that I continue in office until the beginning of the fourth term, saying:

"I will, of course, accept your resignation as Secretary of State if you want me to do so. But I wish you would, as an alternative allow me to accept it as of Jan. 20, which is the end of our Third term. Perhaps sentiment enters into this suggestion a little bit, but it would give me great satisfaction if we should round out the three terms. That means two months more, and during that time I could see you from time to time and get your advice on some of the things that will come before us."

Father Of "U. N."

THE PRESIDENT then made a suggestion which would have been dear, indeed, to my heart had I been able to accept it. "Incidentally," he said, "when the organization of the United Nations is set up, I shall continue to pray that you as the Father of the United Nations may preside over its first session. That has nothing to do with whether you are Secretary of State or not at the time, but should go to you as the one person in all the world who has done the most to make this great plan for peace an effective fact.

In so many different ways you have contributed to friendly relations among nations that even though you may not remain in a position of executive administration, you will continue to help the world with your moral guidance."

He concluded with his affectionate regards.

The President's appeal was so heartfelt and affected me so greatly that I had an earnest talk with the doctors who were treating me. Their answer was that I could not possibly return to my office for a long time to come. I did not think it fair either to the government or to myself, therefore, to accept the President's suggestion that I remain in office until Jan. 20. I felt it was only just that a new Secretary of State should be named to take over. And I felt that, as titular head of the State Department, I would be held responsible for foreign policies in the formulation of which I had no active part.

I therefore replied to the President on Nov. 23, telling him I was deeply moved by his letter and eternally grateful for his kind solicitude about my health and his generous references to our close personal and official relationship of 12 years. After repeating that it was a personal tragedy to me that my state of health made it impossible to continue in the public service, and after stating that I would always cherish the ties between us of friendship and affection, I said:

"With all my heart I wish that I could meet your desire that my resignation as Secretary of State become effective on Jan. 20 rather than now. I have consulted again with my physicians. The speed of my recovery is definitely connected with the extent to which I can be free from all worry and responsibility. You can well understand that at a time like this, it is impossible for me to lay aside the heavy responsibilities of the Secretaryship of State so long as I remain in that office. In fairness to the cause for which you and I have worked so long together, too the country, to you, and to myself, I feel that my resignation must become effective now."

I repeated that, as soon as I recovered my health, I would be entirely at his service with whatever contribution I could make individually to the solution of the tremendous and crucial problems that lay ahead.

The President now accepted my resignation, and announce it on Nov. 27. He named the Under Secretary of State, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., to succeed me. My tenure ended officially on Nov. 30, 1944.

F. D. R. Tired, Too

THE PRESIDENT came to see me at the hospital several times. On one occasion, looking tired and worn—he was then only a few weeks from death—he said to me as I lay in bed, "I ought to be there where you are."

During the seven long months I spent in the hospital I was frequently heartened by signs that, though out of office, my work was not forgotten.

From the Yalta conference I received a cable signed by Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill, Molotov, Eden and Stettinius, saying: "We have missed you at this conference and send to you our affectionate greetings. We wish for you a speedy recovery in order that all of us may have the benefit of association with you again."

I should state at this point that I was not consulted by the President or anyone else on policy issues prior to or during the Yalta conference. The President visited me at the hospital just before departing for Yalta, but he did not take up with me any of the topics he expected to discuss with Stalin and Churchill or the decisions he might make. Nor was I informed beforehand of the purposes of this government at any other important conference subsequently, with the exception of that at San Francisco.

Two months after the Yalta conference I was stunned on April 12 by President Roosevelt's sudden death. He had come to see me the day before leaving for Hyde Park and then for Warm Springs, Georgia, where he died a few days later. On the occasion of his visit I admonished him about his health saying he should take more rest. He said he was leaving the following day for this purpose.

President Roosevelt, in my opinion, was the greatest social reformer in our modern history, even though many persons might disagree with certain of his reforms.

As Commander-in-Chief, his achievements were outstanding among those of other commanders-in-chief. In my opinion he had no contemporary rival in political skill. As long as I knew him he was always an earnest follower of individual liberty, freedom, and other basic rights, and privileges necessary for the welfare of the private citizen. These included the ideals of justice, law, and order.

He was a strong and consistent, and oftentimes an extreme, liberal in his views. The steps he took in the military field which led straight toward victory meant everything to us in the diplomatic field by giving to the force of our diplomacy the indispensable backing of military success.

Chip In Lung For 35 Years Yields to Surgery

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Roy Brown, Antwerp farmer, is doing his chores these days without the wood chip which he apparently carried around in his left lung for 35 years.

Now in his fifties, Brown recently was bothered by coughing attacks. He entered a Syracuse hospital, where a surgeon removed a piece of petrified wood, the size of a pea, from his lung.

Brown recalled that a chip flew into his mouth when he was chopping wood one day at the age of 16. He told his parents, but since it didn't bother him, nothing was done about it. It was believed to be a piece of red maple.

Flying Parson Handles Five-Church Circuit

FIRESTEEL, S. D.—The Rev. Norcal Hegland, northwestern South Dakota's flying pastor, has not missed a single Sunday engagement at any of his five far-flung congregations this winter.

Hegland was installed as pastor of the Lutheran Air Circuit last July and makes his Sunday rounds in a Cub Cruiser plane.

Landing strips have been marked out at each of his five churches, and a sixth is in a sheep pasture, 10 minutes walk from Firesteel, where he and his family live in a 33-foot house trailer.

Boyle's COLUMN

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK. There is one thing rarer in the United States than a canary with mumps.

That is a middle-aged person. Have you ever met one? I never have. Not one who would admit it anyway. The average person, man or woman, would rather confess he stuck thumbtacks in his grand mother than acknowledge he is middle-aged.

Middle age is a clumsy, indefinite, uncertain time when you are no longer young and still haven't the years to justify your banging on a government window and demanding an old age pension.

The foreign lecturer who come to our shores and get rich by bleating that Americans are money-mad miss our real phobia. People in all civilized countries admire money. But this is the only land where everybody is either young or old, and nobody is ever middle-aged.

A man here wakes up in the morning and says to himself, either (1) "Boy, I feel like a two-year-old," or (2) "Who-o-ecy, I'm an old man today." He never rises and says, "Well, I sure do feel middle-aged."

This dislike for middle age shows even in our literature. There are many songs about youth, and Robert Browning serenaded the winter of life with his "grow old along with me, the best is yet to be." But no poet ever bothered to write: "In the spring a middle-aged man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of security, the welfare of his children and the fact he no longer likes to gallop to catch a bus."

Nope, you just can't put poetry into middle age.

How can you tell when you're middle-aged? The American philosophy is that "you're as young as you feel." Wives spend a great deal of their conversational hours trying to convince their husbands this isn't so. So do night club bouncers, who are probably the best authorities in our culture on the behavior of middle-aged men.

The closest culprit himself will come to admitting guilt is a grudging, "I ain't as young as I used to be." This is usually about the time he begins saving up his hangovers for weekends and waits for an elevator rather than climb one flight of stairs.

Another sign is his feeling of secret pleasure when he hears his high school son call him "the old man." If he overheard the boy refer to him as "The middle-aged man," he probably would flog him—or hire somebody to, as high school boys grow pretty big nowadays.

One of the worst features of this twilight zone that follows when youth has flown is the anatomical bulge known as "middle age spread." This is a brutal term used by women in talking about other women who aren't present.

When her first grandchild arrives, a woman may cheerfully announce, "I'm just an old lady now." But she's just being coy. If you want to make an endless enemy, just reply: "Why, you're not really old—you're just middle-aged."

No woman ever thought of herself as "middle-aged," and she will claw anyone who calls her that.

The people who put out dictionaries are disillusioning. One skirts the issue by saying middle age is just the period between youth and old, but another defines it flatly as:

"Peeling middle-aged? It's just the worried interlude between anticipation and retrospection."

"Moonlight Bay," and others. Soloists included Mary Carter, Betty Heintzelman and Orville Chellis. Miss Carter and Dorothy Ewing sang a duet, also Miss Evelyn Albright and Mr. Smith. A male quartette featured "I Got a Feeling for You" and "He-a-way Home." Mr. and Mrs. Brinker and Mrs. C. A. Schmidt presented two comedy skits. The generous free-will offering will be used for the music department.

Fairfield school was dismissed at 2:15 P. M. Monday to permit the teachers to attend a teachers convention in Cuyahoga Falls.

Mrs. J. L. Ward and daughter, Ida, attended the flower show and home show in Cleveland Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin and son, Donnie, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Mitten of Millersburg.

Mrs. Earl Miller and son James Harry, returned home Saturday, from Salem City hospital.

Donald Rupert spent last Thursday and Friday in Columbus attending a hybrid corn school.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conrad of Alliance and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Martin were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Corli were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Rummell of Poland.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Justice, Toole's Corner, were recent guests of her sister, Mrs. Leo Rice.

The Triangle club will meet Saturday evening in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Yoder.

Miss Lois Brubaker was a Sunday guest of Miss Joyce Detwiler. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conner, who have spent the past three months in Arizona, are enroute home.

Miss Miriam Clark, student at Huron Road hospital, Cleveland was a week end guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark.

Mrs. Orville Culler returned home from Salem City hospital Sunday afternoon, having submitted to surgical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Rowe of New Albany were Sunday evening guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Rowe.

John Dillon and Woods Thompson of Washington D. C. were recent guests of the former's mother, Mrs. J. L. Keller.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herron and son, Merwyn, of Carrollton spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rose Meiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Corli were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Rummell of Poland.

W. R. Shockley was confined to his home several days suffering from flu.

Mrs. William Trotter, Sr., daughter, Mrs. Zora Dishony and daughter, Helen and Lois were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Trotter, Jr.

Mrs. W. R. Shockley and Mrs. D. L. Brinker visited Mrs. E. B. McCammon and Mrs. Orville Culler at Salem City hospital Saturday afternoon.

Built-in china cupboard in dining room, kitchen has modern sink with linoleum counter and built-in cupboards. Good basement all cemented with laundry. Furnace newly reconditioned. New concrete garage with nice work-shop. The owner of this property is moving out of town and is pricing it for quick sale at $7,900.

This good six-room home is located on West 10th Street in one of Salem's finest neighborhoods. House is very nicely planned with large living room, dining room and kitchen on first floor, three bedrooms and bath upstairs. Good cemented basement with laundry, automatic gas hot water heater. This home is in good condition throughout, is very nicely planned and is situated on a large lot with plenty of shade and single garage, is completely equipped with storm windows and doors and living room and dining room is nicely carpeted. It is too large for the present owner and is being offered for sale for this reason. Well worth your inspection at only $12,000.

Procter & Gamble's Amazing New DISCOVERY

made to do your whole family wash

IT'S TIDE

—you've never used anything like it!

Here is a completely NEW washing product—a result of war-time research—made especially to do your whole family wash. Get set for a miracle the first time you wash with Tide—for Tide does what's never been done before—washes clothes cleaner than any soap, yet leaves colors brighter! And get set for a surprise when you first see Tide's wonder suds! They look different, feel different ... they billow up thick and fast even in hardest water!

ONLY Tide DOES ALL FOUR!

- 1. Washes clothes CLEANER!
Yes, cleaner than any soap made! Dump in the greasy overalls, the grimy play clothes ... watch Tide's amazing suds go to work! Tide not only leaves clothes free from ordinary dirt, but actually removes dingy soap film as well! Try Tide next washday!
- 2. Gets clothes dazzling white—they're CLEANER!
Wait till you see the dazzling whiteness Tide gives white clothes! And sheets, shirts, pillowcases keep their gleaming whiteness, week after week! Tide never turns them yellow.
- 3. Actually brightens colors—they're CLEANER!
Wait till you see your colored clothes come out with that spanking clean, shining bright Tide-washed look! Tide actually brightens your gay print dresses! Does it safely too! Yes, Tide is safe for all your bright washable colors! It's amazing!
- 4. Gives more suds—prove it in your dishpan!
Kind-to-hands suds! Faster suds! Longer-lasting suds than any soap in hardest water! Tide cuts grease like magic ... washes dishes cleaner than any soap! No scrub in the water! No cloudy film! That's why dishes and glasses rinse and dry so sparkling clear—even without wiping!

GUARANTEE
Procter & Gamble guarantee that Tide will do everything claimed for it in this advertisement. If you are not completely satisfied, return the unused portion of your package to dealer, and the purchase price will be refunded.

TIDE'S IN—DIRT'S OUT!

TIDE WORKS EXTRA MIRACLES IN HARD WATER! OCEANS OF SUDS! NO WATER SOFTENERS NEEDED!

It was desperately important that she find that can of wax. It had moved by itself. Someone had taken it from her closet and put it somewhere else. She had to find it.

She had never felt so much like an interloper in her own home. The house was still and empty, the breeze entered jauntily through the open windows, everything was just as usual yet Ann felt stealthy and furtive as she made her way from one room to the next.

She went to Rinda's room first. She did that because she felt so certain that the wax would not be there. Rinda was out of it, Rinda was in the clear; yet she had to look there, the murderer might have decided that was the perfect place to have hidden it. Rinda's room was neat and orderly. Except for her large wardrobe case on the luggage rack and a few of her dresses hanging in the closet, Rinda's room had decided she wouldn't need in Cleveland, she was no evidence that the room was not just a guest room. Ann found no can of wax anywhere in the room.

Some driving force made her go to Rinda's room next. The room across the hall where he had spent the night before. There was surely no explicable reason why Ann should feel like an intruder in that room, no reason why her hands should be moist and her face flushed as she searched through the closet, the bureau drawers.

She found nothing. Nothing at all. Yet as she went out into the hall she didn't feel the relief she had thought she would. It was the dreadfulness, she decided, of suspecting, even for a moment, that Rinda could be at the bottom of all these awful things.

I wonder why I'm doing it, she thought dreadingly, letting herself into Laurie's sunny bedroom. Even if I find it here I'll be able to convince myself that someone else put it here, that it isn't Laurie at all.

And then she realized, standing in the middle of the lovely bedroom, the reason for the urgency of her mission, the driving force behind her search. She was trying desperately to convince herself that the can of wax did exist, that it had been in her closet that afternoon before, that she had held it in her hands.

But she found nothing in Laurie's room to substantiate her belief. She was shaking as she went out into the upstairs hall.

There were two bedrooms left—Gay's and Tommy's. By this time she had no hope left that she would find the wax in either room. It could have left the house in the trash—it could have left the house in the bright blue convertible that took Rinda to the station.

Nevertheless she went down the hall, let herself into Tommy's bedroom.

Tommy was not a tidy person. That much was evident to her as soon as she was inside the room. Susan usually did Tommy's room first but today Tommy had been back into the room since the maid had been there. He had changed his clothes, his slacks and shirt were tossed over a chair, one sock trailed sadly on the floor, an ash tray was brimful to overflowing.

She didn't touch anything although her instinct was to pick up the clothes, empty the ash tray. Instead she went methodically through Tommy's closet, looked in the bathroom, through the half-filled dresser drawers.

She came very close not to looking in the desk at all. Later, she couldn't have explained why she did go over and move some of the books aside, glance down to be sure nothing was hidden behind or underneath the small kneehole desk. And, as she straightened up from her task, her eyes caught the memorandum that was pushed half underneath the blotter.

Mr. Enos Barton—If a m. Tuesday.

She stood there for a long moment, before the words registered on her brain, before their meaning penetrated.

ENOS!
Eleven a. m. Tuesday.
What Tuesday? Why? Had Enos

sent for Tommy? Why, in heaven's name? For what conceivable reason? How did Enos so much as know of Tommy's existence?

She shook her head, back and forth, slowly.

If any appointment had been made, Tommy had made it. But why?

Why? Why would Tommy want to talk with Enos?

There was only one reason for that. Relief, sweet and enervating, washed over her. She wanted to cry, wanted to let the tears she had been holding back, slide down her cheeks.

But she didn't. In a little while now there would be time enough for tears. But not now. Right now there was something she had to do.

"Interested-in-YOU" Service

THE philosophy of this Prescription Pharmacy may be summed up in our considered belief that you are the most important person in our world. Your wishes, your needs, your prescription, have our undiverted attention from the moment you pass that fragment of mystic prescription over to our side of the counter. Here you observe in actual daily practice a type of simple, sincere, "interested-in-YOU" service. It's service that is dedicated to your welfare all the way from the selection and careful compounding of pure ingredients to the final price tag. Yes, admittedly, it is a selfish service which we give. For we know that only by serving you ably and honorably can we hope to build for us an enduring place in this community.

We invite you to test the facilities of this Pharmacy of "Prescription Specialists" in one practical manner. At all moments, ask your pharmacist about it.

Second Guessing

By DON E. BEATTIE
News Sports Editor

DEPARTMENT OF CONJECTURE

Selection of the All-Ohio teams by the Associated Press, United Press and International News Service for the basketball season just passed are now in process and should be announced starting next Monday.

Needless to say Salem is looking forward to the announcement of those teams with some expectation, for Bob Payer, a second team nomination last year, certainly is in the running for a first team berth.

It seems almost certain that he will make it, too. For his record this year is undeniably better than in 1947 and his value to the team is no better exemplified than by the 358 point total he compiled this season, breaking all the records on the books for one season's total by a Salem High player.

Considering the fact that Payer's exceptional record was compiled all the way while Salem opponents geared primarily defenses to stopping him, it is nothing short of miraculous that he ever achieved the point total he did.

In no less than 16 of the 18 games this year, Payer was suspected to more stringent than average defensive measure. In other words, every team except Lisbon and Dayton Fairview threw exceptionally heavy zone or man-to-man defenses around the big lad.

The actual selection of the All-Ohio teams, fans will do well to remember, is not always indicative of the actual talents of the players. Unquestionably the teams are often dominated by "big name" teams, whose stars get votes almost automatically from the reputation the team has and the usually tough schedules played.

It is extremely hard for a truly good player from a small and not-to-be-successful team to make the grade. But Payer's record, coupled with Salem's basketball record over the past four years, should rate him a fair chance of getting among the "big five" of Ohio's thousands of high school players. Salem's record, exceptional for a school its size, is certainly due in a large part to the fact that Bob was around.

The big boy, in his three-year varsity career, was among the most publicized athletes ever produced here. It's no exaggeration to lay a large part of Salem's crowd-drawing powers at tournament and in all out-of-town trips to Payer's presence on the squad.

Oddly enough, most people seeing the big boy in action for the first time were slow to be convinced that he was of much value. Not a well-coordinated lad, the lanky Senior was not a "finished" basketball player, but usually by the end of the game strange fans were readily willing to admit his prowess.

The All-Ohio selections will be anxiously awaited in Salem. For if Payer makes first team, he will be the only Salem athlete—football or basketball—ever to make the grade. Before anyone writes or phones to tell us that Bob Campbell and Mal Rush made "All-Ohio" in 1927, let us note here that was an "All-Tournament" selection. All-Ohio teams, as such, were not originated until 1934, and then by Fritz Howell, Associated Press sports editor for Ohio.

TOURNAMENT FUND DEPT.

The fund to send the basketball team to state finals at Columbus is making more headway. Latest donors are Dale Wilson and Dr. Joe Schmidt and considerable help has come from a downtown restaurant, where the owner has put out a donation jar marked "Send Our Casters to Columbus."

Actually $150 is needed and more donations are welcomed. The Kiwanis club did their part for the kids yesterday noon, feting them at the annual "Most Valuable Player" banquet, at which Bob Pager received the award for the second year.

A hearty laugh came out of the meeting, too, when Dr. George Jones, who presented the medal of award to Payer, stood on a chair to equal Payer's 6-6 1/2 frame as he made the gift from the club.

But to get back to the point, don't put off those cash gifts much longer, for arrangements must be completed for the trip soon.

Both Cope and his able assistant, Troy Penner, took part as faculty members in the track coaches school at Kent State last Saturday. . . . The two conducted classes in their particular specialty. . . . Penner handled a class in long jumping and Cope, vice president of the Ohio association, was in charge of several events. . . .

ONE MORE GREAT PITCHER WOULD PUT TRIBE HIGH

Club Could Vie For Title With Yanks, Red Sox With 2nd Hurler

(By Associated Press)
TUCSON, Ariz., March 5.—Among other things, the Cleveland Indians still have the best and the highest paid pitcher in baseball in Bobby Feller, the old Iowa farm boy who will strike 30 years on his next birthday.

As they toil and sweat here under the desert sun, the Indians to a man are hoping only one thing—that they may come up with another pitcher even approaching the grandeur of Rapid Robert.

If manager Lou Boudreau should by happy chance uncover another 20-game winner, the Indians are convinced they could rattle the Yankees and the Red Sox right down the wire.

Without another "stopper" of the Feller stripe, they realize they can aspire to no better than third place in the final American league standings.

Feller posted a 20-11 record last year—not one of his better efforts. Second in effectiveness among Indian moundsmen was Bob Lemon, a converted outfielder, who wound up with an 11-5 mark. Don Black, despite a no-hitter against the Athletics, achieved no better than 10-12 in the won-lost column.

That was about the size of the Cleveland staff. Al Gettel had an 11-10 record. Steve Gromek, who zoomed to 19 victories in '45 before

Salem Night Relays Scheduled For May 1

EVENT TO BE REVIVED AFTER 5-YEAR LAYOFF

Fred Cope Reports 18 Teams Already On Entry List

One of Salem's most famous athletic undertakings—the Salem Night Relays—will be revived here on May 1, Fred E. Cope, faculty manager and track coach at Salem High, announced today.

Cope, who operated the events here up until their war-time layoff after 1942, has written 35 schools offering invitations to the event. He reports that 18 teams have replied favorably and seven have declined.

No report has been received as yet from Cleveland East Tech, champion of the affair in 1942, Cope said.

The present schedule calls for the running of the large meet in one day and evening. Cope said the preliminaries will be at 2 p. m. and the finals at 7:30 under the lights at Reilly stadium.

Cope anticipates an entry of about 25 schools. The largest Night Relays ever held were in 1937, when Salem won the title over a field of 44 teams.

The Night Relays this year will augment a full track schedule at Reilly stadium, the regular Salem dual and triangular meets to be held plus the Class A district meet, Saturday, May 15, and the Class B district meet on Wednesday, May 12. Complete details on the meet will be announced by Cope in the near future.

he injured a knee, won only three while losing five.

Most of the men closest to the Indians seem to feel that any real substantial pitching help will have to come from "outside"—from among the new men.

First and foremost probably is Bob Mancier, the big right-hander who came along with Walt Juhnich and John Berardino from the St. Louis Browns.

The next best bet appears to be a gangling rookie southpaw named Bill Kennedy, 15-2 last year with Scranton.

Last of the hot prospects is Mike Garcia, a right-handed fast-baller of Mexican-American ancestry out of California. Pitching for Wilkesbarre last year, he led the Eastern League in victories, complete games and was among the top five in strikeouts.

Top Talent Has Holiday In Tourney But Liverpool Moves Ahead Over Toronto

BY FITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, March 5.—The top talent had a holiday last night in Ohio's sprawling high school basketball carnival, but plenty of all-stars were ushered to the sidelines as a host of temporary teams of destiny plowed forward on the tournament trail.

Three of last year's Class A finalists—the two-time Champion Middletown Middle, unbeaten Findlay and Ashland—got by their first tourney opponents Wednesday night, and the fourth, East Liverpool, stayed in the fight last night with a convincing 40-34 win over Toronto, which had won 18 of 22.

The East Liverpool team, runner-up to Middletown, had won only 12 of 21, but was flying the danger signal with a late-season spurge.

Few upsets marred last night's frays, in direct contrast to the previous evening's devastation which saw four upstart Class B squads battered out of the fight. The three big victors were Chester, Wayne County King with 30 straight, bowing 42-32 to Rittman; Ridgeville Corners of Henry county, its 25-game streak blasted 39-38 by Miller City; and Summerfield, a 20-game winner, loser 34-32 to New Matamoras.

One of the night's most unexpected downfalls came to Middlepoint. Until Middlepoint met Delphos St. John last night, it had won 21 without a bobbie. Delphos St. John emerged with a 44-39 verdict.

Findlay, owner of a 20-game streak and an easy 72-21 winner over Galion in its opening tourney contest, takes on a weak Kenton club which has won only four of 15 tonight.

The Middle, winner of the state Class A crown three of the last four years—and beaten out of the other by two points in the finals—sees action again Saturday night against its most respected rival, Hamilton Public at Dayton. The Middle blasted Dayton Dunbar Wednesday night by 53-41 for their 10th straight, but Hamilton served warning it is ready with a terrific 81-18 conquest of Urbana. Ashland, bidding for another chance at the "final four," just squeezed by Berea 28-27.

In last night's frays, Columbus Central emerged as a contender, winning its 22nd in 23 starts by 60-46 over Marion Harding, while Newark's Wildcats, always a tournament threat of the first rank, won their second of the eliminations, and their 15th in 21 games, 42 to 41 over Mount Vernon.

South Amherst of Lorain county, beaten once in 20 starts, zoomed into Class B contention with a one-sided 76-31 win over Leroy which had copped 14 of 22. At Steubenville tonight, one Class B great must get out of the way as Belmont, the Belmont county champ with 23 wins in 23 starts, tangles with Seio, the Harrison county king which has won 24 of 28.

Columbian's Clippers, defending Class B rulers who got away to a slow season's start, remained in the running after a 51-40 verdict over Sebring.

But high among the favorites were Glenford with 30 wins in 31 starts, Carbon Hill with 22 straight, Bremen with 24 in a row, Rockford with 23 of 24, and that always-present dark horse who always pops up from nowhere to worry the good-record gang.

Englishtown CLOTHES $45

Today, what's the first thing you think of when you think of quality clothing? High Prices? It's high time to change that trend of thought—time to learn that quality is available at old-fashioned prices! Where? Right here—right in every Englishtown Suit we're so proudly showing. See this clothing—and you'll say that Englishtown has brought quality and price in line at last. For, rarely in these times will $45 buy you the kind of fabrics, the kind of tailoring, the kind of styling that you get in Englishtown. So pay no more—and take no less. Get Englishtown—if you want to get the most value for your money. Come in now—while the choicest shades, patterns and fabrics are plentiful.

MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Ap Foreign Affairs Analyst

THE REVOLUTION of the non-Communist nations of Europe to the Bolshevik rape of Czechoslovakia is reminiscent of the violent reaction to Hitler's assault, on that same little republic 10 years ago as he got his conquest of Europe underway—both reminiscent and significant.

Toward the close of 1938 I arrived in London looking for the solution of an important problem. This was after I had attended the Munich conference, followed Hitler into Czechoslovakia, and made a grand swing of the Balkans and back through Italy and France to England. I immediately sought out a distinguished British source and placed my problem before him:

"I sense a deciding hardening of the British and French attitude toward Germany, but I can't put my finger on it. I shall be grateful if you will tell me whether I am right and, if so, what that hardening means."

"You are quite right," he replied without hesitation. "We have decided that appeasement goes out the window. We shall use our armies if necessary."

THAT WAS to say, of course, that the two powers would use their armies to keep Hitler in hand if he started a rampage. It was the right idea but a couple of years too late. The Nazi dictator was about ready to open fire, whereas an earlier display of two-fisted firmness by the Allies might have prevented war.

Now with the Communizing of Czechoslovakia we have reached a crucial point in a fresh world conquest which the democracies have been trying to halt by appeasement. The first reaction to the Red assault on the small democracy was the joint note of condemnation by America, Britain and France.

This has been followed by a wave of anti-Soviet sentiment which has swept Scandinavian Norway, Denmark and Sweden—all of which are in the danger zone of Red aggression—are showing their feelings.

NOTICE OF FILING ACCOUNTS

Notice is hereby given that the accounts and vouchers have been filed in the Probate Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, for settlement of the administration of the estate of ings by mass demonstrations and press attacks against the aggressive spread of Communism over Europe.

At the same time there has been a sudden decision to speed up the conferences to consider implementation of British Foreign Minister Bevin's proposal for a "Western Union" of Europe, England, France and the so-called Benelux countries—Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—are scheduled to meet tomorrow in Brussels to begin discussion of this sensational project. Under Bevin's plan these countries would serve as the nucleus of a larger grouping of Western European democracies.

IN SHORT, this would provide for a consolidation of Western Europe for mutual benefit which would include defense against Bolshevik aggression.

Meanwhile Turkey, another strategically situated country upon which Moscow has trained its big guns, has erupted into action.

Fifty-six alleged Communists went on trial yesterday in Istanbul, charged with forming a socialist party.

to "establish the supremacy of one class over another."

This is part of a general anti-Communist house-cleaning which was started more than a year ago. The trial is being held in private, the prosecution maintaining that indignation against the Reds is so high that a secret trial is necessary for public order.

Such evidence of firmness by the tough Turks is of the greatest importance to defense against the Bolshevik conquest, because Turkey not only guards the passage from Europe into the Middle East but dominates the Dardanelles strait which Russia seeks in order to make herself a Mediterranean power.

So we are witnessing an all-around tightening of the defenses against Bolshevism in Europe. It is not only encouraging but gives definite promise that the line can be held against the Reds if appeasement is discarded.

Far from being an encouragement to war, a firm stand against
